OLIVES IN AUSTRALIA.

Some of the Agricultural Pests that Bother the Colonists

In his "Traveller's Notes," writing about South Australia, Mr. J. H. Veitch has the following in regard to olive trees: "Sir Samuel Davon-port's olive trees are very fine, and he manufactures a considerable quantity of oil, the granite-crushers, lower-presses, and receptacles for which are of the highest order. I may here mention, numerous are the olive round Adelaide, that this industry will probably assume great proportions but for the labor of gathering. To any observer a little beneath the surface, there seems to be no question that what the Australian colonies require is men more than money. As it is, 30s to 40s per week wages to olive-gatherers will not permit of competition with the cheap labor of Italy." In regard to weeds in South Australia, Mr. Veitch states that the colony suffers as much from acclimatized animal pests as rabbits and sparrows. Gorse, briar, artichoke, prickly pear and bramble grow and multiply to an alarming extent. Stone thistle and Bahurst burr (Xanthium spinosum), fatal to the fleeces of sheep, are much dreaded, and the law has rendered it criminal for landowners to permit the existence of the burr on or near their estates. Stink-weed was also rampant at the time of Mr. Veitch's visit.

WOOD!

There is probably less coal used here in private families than in any city to which that article is exported.

The reason is plain—wood is cheaper and of better quality. Nature provides Hawaii with the wonderful and rapid growing algaroba and it supplies the fuel for the people. Anyone who has ever visited the neighborhood of Waialae has been attracted by the forests of trees of this description. People who have gone there to inspect Mr. Isenberg's ranch have marveled at the care and attention given the cutting of trees for the market. As the supply cuts some of the ice in regulating the price of a commodity so the thousands of trees on Waialae Ranch act as a factor in putting down the price of wood. Mr. Isenberg sells wood cheaper than anybody else and delivers it free in any part of Honolulu. Ring up either telephone and get a cord.

If you've had any trouble with your milk try some from the Waialae stock for a month.

Carefully Weighed

Calculations Lead to Correct Results.

Where people make a mistake is in supposing that good pictures are necessarily expensive.

We are selling pictures every day, fit to grace any home, the prices of which would astonish those not acquainted with the fact.

It is not necessary to get a first proof etching or engraving in order to have a work of art. The method of reproduction now in vogue, makes it possible for people of moderate means as well as their wealthier neighbor, to gratify their taste for the beautiful.

Great range for the display of taste, in the selection of subjects, is afforded by our keeping pictures in sheet form and mouldings from which to select the frame.

One need never be at a loss to know what to give as a present, at any time or for any purpose, for there is nothing better than a picture.

And KING BROS. is the place to get them.
